SENATOR STEWART.

THE OPENING GUN OF THE CAMPAIGN IN CARSON.

He Addresses a Large Crowd at the Opera House.

Last evening Senator Stewart addressed a large crowd at the Opera House on the issue of the campaign.

Before the hour arrived the street was a blaze of bonfires, and the air full of music.

The Senator was met at the train by a delegation of Young Republicans, under the glow of a torch light procession, with a band and transparencies.

Judge Murphy presided over the meeting and following were the Vice Presidents:

Hon. Evan Williams, Geo. Richards, J. C. Harlow, W. D. Torreyson, Joe Platt, A. Livingston, F. E. Murphy, Ed. Vanderleith, S. P. Davis, E. J. Parkinson, Jacob Muller, John Trapp, W. T. Hanford, W. M. Little, Wm. Woolley, Jack Elliott.

After a brief introductory speech by the President of the meeting, Mr. Stewart advanced and loud applause, and thanked his old friends for the reception accorded him. The speaker began with a review of the work done by the Nevada delegation in Congress for silver, and showed how the labor of the delegations had already resulted in a raise of silver and conferred a great benefit on the whole State. Not a man of the delegation had shirked his duty on the silver or any other State question.

They had secured the Indian School at Carson, which would bring $50,000 a year here, and the war claim of $400,000 had been placed on its feet and in a position to go through Congress.

He spoke glowingly of the resources of the State and its promising future.

HITTING THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Senator spoke at length upon the character of the Democratic platform, and regretted that any man, Democrat or Republican, living in Nevada could have got so low as to write the Democratic platform—such a platform; such a disgraceful thing; such a burlesque upon our state, that called us not only a rotten borough, but criminal rotten borough. That platform was a disgrace to Nevada, and was never written by square Democrat or a square Republican. It was a libel upon the people of Nevada, and should be repudiated at the polls by an overwhelming majority for every nominee upon the Republican ticket. There was not a line of hope in it, not a line of encouragement, not a line of patriotism. It was a low, miserable, groveling, contemptible libel upon the people of this State—Democrats and Republicans. We were as good as our neighbors. The people of this State were a brave, progressive and honest people, and not a degraded set of thieves, as represented by that platform.

"By your votes next November tell the people of the Eastern States that this platform is a lie by electing R. K. Colecord for Governor, John P. Jones for Senator, H. F. Bartine for Congress, and every other man on the Republican ticket. Do not plead guilty to this foul indictment."

OUR STATETICKET.

Referring to the State ticket nominated by the Republican party, the Senator said he was glad to observe that there was really no opposition to the reelection of Senator Jones to the United States Senate, but State pride and that miserable platform of the Democratic party demands that all honest citizens should stand by the Republican State ticket from top to bottom. It was of the first importance to keep harmony in the ranks of the Republican party, and every man who didn't want to plead guilty as charged in the Democratic platform, every man who had any pride of his State and of himself, should vote the State Republican ticket and save the State from the humiliation of that election of a Democratic ticket standing upon that platform would bring the speaker said he had looked over the Republican ticket and found that a splendid ticket had been nominated. He knew R. K. Colecord; he knew him as a man very many years ago—as a man who worked with a pick and shovel—and knew him as a square and honest man, who sympathized with workmen, and whom workmen could rely upon as a friend, and no better selection could have been made. He wanted a man of the people; a man who could feel for the people, and there was nothing like being with the people and sharing with them the hardship of a pioneer life as Mr. Colecord had.

The Senator said he had also known John Egan, candidate for State treasure, and he had never met a better man. He was a trustworthy man and fully qualified to perform the duties of his office.

Mr. Bartine was an honorable and efficient member, who took an important part in the legislation of the Congress, and a man who has never swerved from his devotion to the State.

Senator Jones' reputation, the speaker said, was not confined to Nevada, but it was world wide, and he was glad that his reelection was certain, after he had done so much in the interest of Nevada. If Nevada failed to elect its State ticket and Senator Jones it would be a triumph for the gold bugs and the State will be disgraced before the world.

At the close of the speech which was continually interrupted with applause, there were three cheers for Senator Stewart and three more for the ticket, after which the meeting adjourned.

ALL SORTS.

Mrs. C. A. Dealy, is visiting friends in Oakland.

Geo. Cassidy was in the city yesterday. He looks quite pleasant for a man on the brink of defeat.

Mrs. Wagner left for San Francisco last evening to attend the wedding of her niece. She will return in about two weeks.

The Union market has a fresh lot of corn-fed pork on the hooks that would almost persuade an Israelite to be a Christian.

People who passed Green's market saw two sides of meat yesterday which must have made many a beef-eater's mouth water.

On all sides comes the report that James Torreyson, candidate for Attorney, is making votes everywhere he goes, and promises to have one of the heaviest majorities on the ticket.

The postponed party given by the young ladies of St. Margaret's Guild will take place on Friday evening Oct. 24th. The committees appointed for the last party are expected to discharge the duties assigned them.

Of the unclaimed and undelivered mail matter received at the Dead Letter Office during the past fiscal year four hundred and fifty-one thousand were letters misdirected, or only partially addressed—that is, not addressed to a post office, or addressed to a post office without giving the State being given, or, addressed to a post office not in the State named, etc., etc.—while twenty-four thousand were entirely blank bearing no address whatever. Among the latter were frequently found the correspondence of business men, of which a large portion contained inclosures of money drafts, checks, etc.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET.

The Democratic convention of last Saturday at the Court House nominated the following ticket:

The party ticket was pulled over to evening term. Empire to the Indian School for candidates, and it was impossible to fill the ticket, even some of the delegates had to be sent for by the agent at Aris.

When the ticket was completed and hung up it was as full of holes as a brush fence.

The ticket is merely the work of a few consistent Democrats, who are anxious to preserve the party organization, and is not regarded as a winning ticket at all.

Judge Fitzgerald says Hy Doane is the best county clerk he ever saw.

A Point Well Taken.

While the editor of the APPEAL is engaged lecturing Carson Republicans for alleged support of Democratic candidates, it is in order for him to ensure his stepson Harry R. Mize, Jr., who by the grace of the Republican party, holds a position in the Carson Mint. Young Mize is openly denouncing and working against Thos. H. Wells, one of the Republican nominees for District Judge.

We are glad to see our evening contemporary taking an interest in these matters. If Mr. Mize is fighting Wells, the point made by the Tribune is well taken. If the Tribune will continue its good work, we hope to see every Republican voting the straight ticket on election day.

Believes in Advertising.

John Wagner advertises in the APPEAL of this morning that he is a candidate for Treasurer on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Wagner is a man who believes in keeping his name before the public during a campaign.
